QUINN POORLY SUPPORTED

Would Have Won His Game if Team Had Backed Him Properly.

New York, April 30 .- A dropped third strike on Baker by Sweeney, in the seventh inning to-day, followed by two hits and an error by Knight, enabled the Athletics to make two runs and tie the Highlanders. In the eleventh, the visitors won out, earning two runs on hits by Oldring, Baker and Murphy. Had Quinn been perfectly supported, he would have won his game by a score of 2 to 0, in-stead of losing it 4 to 2. The score:
